INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND STRATEGY

The Chinabank Income-Paying Dollar Bond Feeder Fund intends to achieve regular income with a secondary focus on long term capital growth by investing in a Target Fund that seeks to track the performance of a broad, market-weighted, investment-grade U.S. bond market. The Fund aims to provide a return that tracks the performance of the Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate Float Adjusted Index, which is the benchmark of the Target Fund.

CLIENT SUITABILITY

A client profiling process shall be performed prior to participating in the Fund to guide the prospective investor if the Fund is suited to his/her investment objectives and risk tolerance. Before deciding to invest, clients are advised to read the Declaration of Trust, a copy of which is available at the Trustee's principal office and website.

The Chinabank Income-Paying Dollar Bond Feeder Fund is suitable only for investors who:

- have a moderate risk appetite;
- are willing to assume a certain level of risk in consideration for higher returns; and
- have an investment horizon of at least five (5) years.

KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

The client should not invest in this Fund if the client does not understand or is not comfortable with the accompanying risks.

- Interest Rate Risk. An investor may experience losses due to changes in interest rates. The purchase and sale of a debt instrument may result in profit or loss because the value of a debt instrument changes inversely with prevailing interest rates.
- Reinvestment Risk. An investor may have lower returns or earnings when maturing funds or the interest earnings of funds are reinvested. Prepayments or call/redemption of securities by borrowers/issuers during periods of falling interest rates may force the Target Fund to reinvest the unanticipated proceeds at lower interest rates. Similarly, certain debt securities may be paid off more slowly than originally anticipated during periods of rising interest rates, which may delay the Target Fund's ability to reinvest at higher interest rates.
- Credit/Default Risk. An investor may experience losses due to a borrower's failure to pay principal and/or interest in a timely manner on instruments such as bonds, loans or other forms of security which the borrower issued. It also includes risk on a counterparty (a party the Trustee trades with) defaulting on a contract to deliver its obligation either in cash or securities.
- Market/Price Risk. An investor may experience losses due to changes in the market price of securities. It is the exposure to the uncertain market value of a portfolio due to price fluctuations.
- Liquidity Risk. An investor may experience losses due to the inability to sell or convert assets into cash immediately or in instances where conversion to cash is possible but at a loss. These may be caused by different reasons such as trading in securities with small or few outstanding issues, absence of buyers, limited buy/sell activity or underdeveloped capital market.
- Country Risk. An investor may experience losses arising from investments in securities issued by/in foreign countries due to political, economic and social structures of such countries. There are risks in foreign investments due to the possible internal and external conflicts, currency devaluations, foreign ownership limitations and tax increases of the foreign country which are difficult to predict but must be taken into account when making such investments.
- Income Risk. An investor's income may decline due to falling interest rates.
- Distribution Risk. The Target Fund may not distribute income for a given period. There is also no assurance or guarantee on the distribution or the distribution rate.
- Index Sampling Risk. The securities selected for the Target Fund, in the aggregate, may not provide investment performance matching that of the Target Fund's target index.

As ETF Shares are traded on an exchange, they are also subject to additional risks:

- The Target Fund's ETF Shares are listed for trading on Nasdaq and are bought and sold on the secondary market at market prices. Although it is expected that the market price of an ETF Share typically will approximate its NAV, there may be times when the market price and the NAV differ significantly. Thus, the Fund may pay more or less than the NAV when buying ETF Shares on the secondary market, and the Fund may receive more or less than the NAV when selling the shares.
- Although the Target Fund's ETF Shares are listed for trading on Nasdaq, it is possible that an active trading market may not be maintained.
- Trading of the Target Fund's ETF Shares may be halted by the activation of individual or marketwide trading halts (which halt trading for a specific period of time when the price of a particular security or overall market prices decline by a specified percentage). Trading of the Target Fund's ETF Shares may also be halted if (1) the shares are delisted from Nasdaq without first being listed on another exchange or (2) Nasdaq officials determine that such action is appropriate in the interest of a fair and orderly market or for the protection of investors.

The Trustee only transacts with reputable counterparties and invests in Target Funds and securities which have undergone a rigorous accreditation and evaluation process. Regulatory exposure limits are monitored regularly to ensure that exposures are managed. The Fund also employs risk management measures to monitor significant declines in the Fund's NAVPu and alert the Trustee to review current strategies and take corrective action as necessary. Furthermore, the Fund undergoes an annual review to ensure that it is equipped to fund any redemption requirement in a timely manner and at a reasonable cost during times of financial stress.

The Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate Float Index is a Total Return Index which measures the performance of a wide spectrum of public, investment-grade, taxable, fixed income securities in the U.S. – including government, corporate and international dollar-denominated bonds, as well as mortgage-backed and asset-backed securities – all with maturities of more than one (1) year. Federal Reserve holdings acquired through primary and secondary markets are deducted from the outstanding amounts of securities in the index. This Index is not adjusted for tax by the Trustee and does not reflect deductions for fees and expenses. Additional information on the benchmark and/or its administrator can be found on Bloomberg, and be made available to investors upon request.

The benchmark provides a standard for evaluating the Fund's performance by helping investors/participants understand how the Fund is performing relative to the performance of the broad, investment-grade US bond market, to which the Target Fund invests. As part of the Fund's index sampling strategy, at least 80% of its assets will be invested in bonds held in the benchmark. Additionally, the benchmark's characteristics serve as reference point for the Fund's duration, credit quality, and yield to maturity, among others. The performance figures for the Benchmark reflect total return, whereas the figures for the Fund and the Target Fund do not include the income paid out on distribution and are based on price changes only.

³Volatility measures the degree to which the Fund fluctuates vis-à-vis its average return over a period of time. This is computed by getting the standard deviation of the yearly returns for the past 12 mos.

OTHER DISCLOSURES

RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

The Fund has deposits with the Bank Proper, amounting to USD8.05 thousand, which were approved by the Board of Directors/Trust Investment Committee. Likewise, all related parties transactions are conducted on an arm's length basis.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

The US Treasury yield curve experienced a bull steepening in August. The 2-year yield decreased by 32 bps to 3.60%, while the 10-year fell by 15 bps to 4.23%. Year-to-date, the 2-year remains lower by 72 bps and the 10-year by 40 bps.

The month started with the release of US non-farm payrolls for July, which reinforced the weakening trend in the labor market. The unemployment rate rose to 4.2%, while job creation was 73,000 versus an estimated 100,000. Figures from the previous two months were revised lower by a combined 258,000, with June revised down to 14,000 from 147,000, and May revised down to 19,000 from 144,000. This data prompted markets to aggressively price in a September rate cut, compared to no change just a month earlier. US President Donald Trump also renewed calls for the Fed to lower rates and for Fed Chair Jerome Powell's removal, while dismissing the head of the Bureau of Labor Statistics after the extensive revisions. Mid-month inflation data showed headline CPI increased 2.7% year-on-year, while core CPI, excluding food and energy, rose 3.1%. At the Jackson Hole Symposium, Fed Chair Powell indicated openness to resuming rate cuts, citing risks from a softening labor market and uncertainty over the inflation impact of tariffs. Markets are now pricing in at least 50 bps of reductions for the rest of the year. The Fed has kept rates steady at 4.25% to 4.50% for five straight meetings, with the last move in December 2024. Meanwhile, Trump's latest actions continue to raise questions about the Fed's independence, as he demanded the resignation of current Fed Governor Lisa Cook, alleging fraud.

Looking ahead, markets will see one more set of labor and inflation data before the highly anticipated Fed meeting in September. The Fund will continue to mirror the performance of the broad investment-grade US bond market, which remains sensitive to these developments.

INVESTMENT POLICY / PROSPECTIVE INVESTMENTS

The Fund shall invest at least ninety percent (90%) of its assets in the Target Fund. The Fund may also invest in deposit products such as time deposits/other bank deposit products.

The Fund may have cash levels in excess of 10% if (i) there is a large subscription and the Trustee is in the process of investing the cash contribution into the Target Fund; (ii) there is a large redemption wherein the Trustee has already received the proceeds from its divestment from the Target Fund but is awaiting the end of the redemption settlement period; or (iii) the Trustee is in the process of switching from one Target Fund to another.
