KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

The client should not invest in this Fund if the client does not understand or is not comfortable with the accompanying risks.

- Interest Rate Risk. This is the possibility for an investor to experience losses due to changes in interest rates. The purchase and sale of a debt instrument may result in profit or loss because the value of a debt instrument changes inversely with prevailing interest rates.
- Market/Price Risk. This is the possibility for an investor to experience losses due to changes in the market price of securities. It is the exposure to the uncertain market value of a portfolio due to price fluctuations.
- Liquidity Risk. This is the possibility for an investor to experience losses due to the inability to sell or convert assets into cash immediately or in instances where conversion to cash is possible but at a loss. These may be caused by different reasons such as trading in securities with small or few outstanding issues, absence of buyers, limited buy/sell activity or underdeveloped capital market.
- Credit/Default Risk. This is the possibility for an investor to experience losses due to a borrower's failure to pay principal and/or interest in a timely manner on instruments such as bonds, loans or other forms of security which the borrower issued. It also includes risk on a counterparty (a party the Trustee trades with) defaulting on a contract to deliver its obligation either in cash or securities.
- Reinvestment Risk. This is the possibility for an investor to have lower returns or earnings when maturing funds or the interest earnings of funds are reinvested.

The Trustee only transacts with reputable counterparties and invests in debt securities issued by prime corporate borrowers which have undergone a rigorous accreditation and evaluation process. Regulatory exposure limits as well as the Fund's average duration are monitored regularly to ensure that exposures are managed. The Fund also employs risk management measures to monitor significant declines in the Fund's NAVPu and alert the Trustee to review current strategies and take corrective action as necessary. The Fund also undergoes an annual review to ensure that it is equipped to fund any redemption requirement in a timely manner and at a reasonable cost during times of financial stress.

The BPHIL13 Index is a systematically designed, rules-based, market value-weighted index that measures the performance of intermediate-term, fixed-rate local currency securities that are publicly issued by the Philippines. It includes a diversified range of fixed income securities with different coupon rates, maturities of between 1 to 3 years, minimum par amounts of Php3.0Bn, and are traded in the Philippine market. This Index is adjusted for tax by the Trustee, but does not reflect deductions for fees and expenses. Additional information on the benchmark and/or its administrator can be found on Bloomberg, and be made available to investors upon request.

The benchmark provides a standard for evaluating the Fund's performance by helping investors/participants understand how the Fund is performing relative to the market or asset class the Fund represents. The benchmark reflects the performance of peso-denominated fixed income securities with maturities of between 1 to 3 years. Additionally, its characteristics serve as reference point for the Fund's duration and credit positioning.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

The Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) eased policy rates by 25 basis points in February, bringing the benchmark rate to 4.25%, citing manageable inflation but signaling increasing concerns over slowing economic growth. The previous month's inflation reading came in at 2.0% year-on-year, while the BSP projected February's figure to fall within the 2.3%–3.1% range. Meanwhile, on the currency front, the Philippine peso strengthened against the US dollar, with the pair trading at 57.69 compared with 58.90 in the prior month.

Local bond yields broadly declined during the month, reflecting the more accommodative policy backdrop. The 2-year government bond yield fell by 3 basis points to 5.15%, while the 10-year eased by 7 basis points to 5.924%. The long end of the curve, however, underperformed, with yields on the 20-year and longer tenors rising by an average of 3 basis points. In the primary market, the highlight of the month was the issuance of the new benchmark 10-year government security. The auction attracted strong demand, enabling the Bureau of the Treasury (BTr) to price the bond at 5.925%, slightly below prevailing secondary-market levels. Total funds raised reached Php297.94 billion, of which Php235 billion represented new money, while Php62.94 billion came from the exchange of five short-dated eligible securities. Other issuances during the month were also well received, with a total of Php110 billion raised from reissuances across the 3-, 5-, 7-, and 25-year tenors. In other news, BTr reported that trading volume in the government bond market reached a record Php12.68 trillion by end-2025, nearly fourfold the level a decade earlier. Foreign participation also increased to around 5%, up from roughly 2% in 2023, reflecting growing investor interest and improved market accessibility. Given this progress, the Philippines has been placed on watch-positive status for inclusion in the J.P. Morgan Government Bond Index-Emerging Markets, which could further broaden the investor base, enhance market liquidity, and support lower government borrowing costs.

Looking ahead, new bond supply across maturities is expected to reach up to Php140 billion through weekly auctions. Demand conditions, however, may be challenged as the escalation of tensions in the Middle East toward the end of February risks reigniting volatility in global markets, particularly through higher oil prices and renewed inflationary pressures. This development could complicate the BSP's policy outlook, as inflation may approach the upper end of its target range, while economic growth faces additional headwinds. Against this backdrop, the Fund remains selective in its bond acquisitions, seeking to enhance portfolio yield while carefully managing duration risk.
